PREFACE.

After consulting with most of the prominent Citizens and leading Business Men in the City, and finding a general desire for the publication of a Complete City Directory, I have undertaken the laborious and hazardous task of furnishing a Work that will meet, both in Matter, and Style of Execution, the urgent demand and universal desire of all classes: affording, to the Manufacturer and the Merchant a most desirable, and, in point of utility, unequaled, Medium of Advertising; to the Purchaser and Consumer, a sure and infallible guide to the Best and Cheapest Markets; to Public Agents, Collectors, and Strangers visiting the City, a correct index to the residence, or home of every Male Citizen of Alton.

As will be seen by reference to the Title Page, it is my design and intention to publish a Yearly Edition of the Work, should this attempt prove successful and satisfactory to those to whose use it is dedicated.

With many thanks to the generous and liberal Public for their unhesitating and cheerful support, which has enabled me to undertake the Work, I "cast it, as bread upon the waters," hoping that it will "return after many days," tenfold to all my generous patrons.

ALTON, - - ILLINOIS.

Having recently purchased the most of my material new from one of the best Foundries in the country, and, among other things, a large, DOUBLE-MEDIUM WASHINGTON PRESS, and having acquired a knowledge of my business in this city, thus becoming acquainted with the tastes and preferences of most of our business men, I am enabled to guarantee entire satisfaction to all who may favor me with their orders. My expenses being unusually small, I can, and will do work ten per cent. cheaper than can be had elsewhere in the city.

Parties having Printing to be done, will find it to their interest to give me a call, at the

UNCONDITIONAL UNION OFFICE.

SKETCH OF ALTON.

In the year 1818, the "Town of Alton" was laid out by Col. Refus Easton, of St. Charles, Mo., upon fractional sections 11, 13, and 14, in Town 5, North of Range 10, West of the Third Principal Meridian. It is situated on the North bank of the Mississippi river, in about latitude North 38 deg. 20 min., and West, longitude 14 deg., from Washington; is 25 miles, (by the river,) almost due North from St. Louis; 75 miles south of Springfield, the State Capital; 3 miles above the mouth of the Missouri river; 20 miles below the mouth of the Illinois, and 14 miles from Edwardsville, the County Seat of Madison County, in which county Alton is the chief town, and only City.

In the year 1818, that part of the City now known as the "old town plat," or "Easton's Alton," and extending from Market street on the West, to Henry street on the East, and from the river on the South to 9th street on the North, after being laid out in lots, was put up at public auction, and many of the lots sold, and the building of a town commenced. Two or three log cabins had previously been erected, one of which was used as a tavern by travelers who crossed to and from Missouri at Fountain Ferry, which started from, and landed at, a point near the present foot of Piasa street. This ferry was well know at that time throughout the Western country, but has long been numbered with the things that were.

Alton stands upon the bank of the river, at the only place, throughout its entire course, where the stream runs, for any considerable distance, directly from West to East.

The City stands, as it were, at the head of the justly famous "American Bottom," the bluffs here receding from the river, and leaving a narrow tract of land, varying in width from three to ten miles, and having its terminus at Chester, a picturesque town on the river, one hundred miles below Alton. This "Bottom," is celebrated for its fine alluvial soil, which repays, in produce of the best quality, and largest quantity, the labor of the husbandman. This whole country was, until recently, subjected to annual, and sometimes semi-annual overflows of water from the Mississippi river, which necessarily proved a great detriment to its agricultural interests. In the year 1859, however, the enterprising citizens petitioned the legislature to erect an embankment to stay the tide, and protect the farming lands from inundation, which was granted, and the work now known as the "American Bottom Levee," was brought to a speedy conclusion, with the most gratifying results.

The location is at once singularly beautiful and delightfully picturesque. From the observatories on many of its elevated dwellings, its lofty church steeples, and the bluffs above the City, can be obtained views equal in grandeur to any in the West. The best view of the City, and one which invariably elicits expressions of surprise and gratification from the stranger approaching the City by water, can be had from the mouth of the Missouri river, this being the only point commanding a view of the entire City.

For nine years the town made but little progress, other towns in the vicinity, among which was Upper Alton, completely out-stripping it. But in the year 1827, Gov. Edwards, together with other property holders, secured the location of the State Prison at this point, which marked the epocha of better days for Alton. For years from this date the town grew rapidly.

In 1832 the Weekly Spectator was published by O. M. Adams and Edward Breath. The paper was continued, under that name, for six years, when it was christened "The Gazette," and by that name was continued two years longer; having been edited, during the eight years of its existence, successively by ten different gentlemen.

In 1835 the tract of land lying between the penitentiary wall and State street, was laid out in town lots, sold, and soon thereafter built upon. This was a part of the old Penitentiary Plat, and is now in the very heart of the City.

In 1836 the Alton and Springfield road was surveyed, by Professor Mitchell, of Cincinnati.

In January, 1836, was commenced the publication of the Weekly Alton Telegraph, which continued in existence until May, 1855, when it was purchased by the proprietors of the Courier, then the principal paper published in the City. During its lifetime it had seven different editors. In 1861, when the publication of the Courier was suspended, the Telegraph was resurrected, and has since been published daily and weekly, by Messrs. L. A. Parks & Co.

During the spring of the same year, Rev. E. P. Lovejoy removed from St. Louis, and commenced the publication of a weekly religious newspaper called the Observer, which he continued to edit in an able and fearless manner, until his wretched murder at the hands of a lawless mob, in 1837.

At the special session of the Legislature, held July, 1837, an act was passed to incorporate the "City of Alton." A vote of the inhabitants was taken and the charter accepted. In September of the same year, the first election for city officers was held, which resulted as follows:

Mayor—JOHN M. CRUM; Register—H. G. McClintoc; Treasurer—John H. Sparr; City Collector—S. C. Pierce; Street Commissioner—J. B. Hundley; City Constable—S. L. Miller; Assessors—Beal Howard, W. G. Pinckard and W. Post.

At the same time, William Martin was elected Judge of the Municipal Court, which was abolished in 1839, but has since been revived.

The following is a list of gentlemen who successively filled the office of Mayor, from the first one elected, down to the present worthy incumbent:

1837—JOHN M. CRUM.
1838—CHAS. HOWARD.
1839—JOHN KING.
1840—STEPHEN GRIGGS.
1841—WM. MARTIN.
1842—S. G. BAILEY.
1843—STEVEN PIERSON.
1844—G. T. M. DAVIS.
1845—G. T. M. DAVIS.
1846—G. T. BROWN.
1847—EDWARD KEATING.
1848—ROBERT FERGUSON.
1849—SAMUEL WADE.
1850—SAMUEL WADE.
1851—H. W. BILLINGS.
1852—T. M. HOPE.
1853—S. A. BUCKMASTER.
1854—O. M. ADAMS.
1855—SAMUEL WADE.
1856—JOSEPH BROWN.
1857—SAMUEL WADE.
1858—L. S. METCALF.
1859—WM. POST.
1860—L. KELLENBERGER.
1861—KELLENBERGER.
1862—BUCKMASTER.
1863—E. HOLLISTER.

In the forty-five years, in which time Alton has grown from a few rickety old log cabins, to a flourishing city of no small note, she has made her way up the slippery steeps of wealth and prosperity, not without encountering many obstacles which have materially retarded her progres, among which might be mentioned the location of the prison at this point, which, though for a few years exerting a favorable influence, had for many long years proved a serious detriment, until removed a few ago to Joliett; the Lovejoy riot; the financial revulsion immediately following, which swept over this country like a hurricane, bringing everything to the common level of ruin; the great panic of 1857; and, later, the inauguration of this wicked, unholy and unwarranted rebellion. But she has overcome them all, and to-day can give a better account of herself, and presents a decidedly better front to the world than at any former period. Let a stranger come into our City at this time and he would find little in the busy and peaceful appearance which is everywhere presented, and in the numerous and magnificent buildings just finished and finishing and the indications of prosperity everywhere visible, to indicate the presence, in our land, of a destructive Civil War, finding no parallel in modern history.

Alton has contributed freely, in blood and treasure, in aiding the Government in its efforts to suppress the Rebellion, and vindicate the supremacy of the Laws. Since the commencement of the War, she has acquired considerable importance and celebrity as a Military Post, the old Penitentiary Buildings being used by the Government as a Military Prison.

Was it the intention of the Publisher to write a minute history of the City, from its first settlement down to the present time, a large and interesting volume might be produced; but, in a Work of this kind, it is impossible to give more than a passing glance at some of the more important items, and drop the matter in order to proceed with the work for which this Publication is especially intended.

ABREVIATIONS.

For b, read board; cor., corner; col., colored; ns,, north side; ss., south side; es., east side; ws., west side; n., north; e east; s., south; w., west. The word street is implied.

Some of the names will be found to be incomplete, owing to the great dread entertained by the people, and more especially the lower classes, for "the draft man," as they were pleased to style our canvassing agent. And so firmly was the belief that he was the veritable individual that was "coming to drag poor Jemmie away to the bloody wars," fixed in the minds of some, that no amount of logical argument could eradicate it. This being the state of the public mind, it will be readily understood why, in a few instances, the names do not appear in full.

TRACT ON BAPTISM.

This Tract investigates every passage of Scripture where a baptism was performed by John the Baptist, or any of the apostles. We keep on hand a large supply of the Work, of the last edition, revised, enlarged, and much improved. It is large type, and on good paper, and contains the following chapters, and subjects:

CHAP. I. The Design of Baptism.
" II. The Mode of Baptism—Baptism of the Holy Ghost.
" III. John's Baptism.
" IV. The Commission.
" V. Baptism of the Three Thousand.
" VI. Baptism of the Eunoch.
" VII. Baptism of Paul.
" VIII. Cornelius' Household.
" IX. The Baptism of the Jailor.
" X. Other Passages.
" XI. Saving Baptism.
CHAP. XII. Infant Baptism.
" XIII. Household Baptism.
" XIV. The Family of Cornelius.
" XV. The Families of the Jailor and Lydda.
" XVI. Objections Answered.
" XVII. Objections Answered.
" XVIII. Objections Answered.
" XIX. Objections Answered.
" XX. Close Communion.
" XXI. Conclusion.

Each chapter contains a concise Bible argument on the several phases of the subject. Persons having doubts about what these passages teach, in reference either to the design, mode or subject of Baptism, would do well to consult this little volume. It makes a volume of more than ninety pages, in pretty, clear type, which will be sold by the single copy, or by the quantity, as follows:

Single Copy, by mail, - - - - $0.20
Six Copies, " - - - - 1.00
Fifty Copies, " - - - - - 6.25
Any larger quantity at the same rates.
